

Global DMS® CCPA Statement

For California Residents and the California Consumer Privacy Act ("CCPA")

The California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) creates new consumer rights relating to the access to, deletion of, and sharing of personal information that is collected by businesses. The CCPA expands the privacy rights granted to California consumers, and it places many new obligations on businesses that collect the personal data of California consumers.

How Global DMS is Supporting its Clients' Compliance with the CCPA

Global DMS acts as a service provider for the personal information that we process on behalf of clients through their use of our platform services. Companies that are subject to the CCPA are required to have certain contractual terms in place with service providers that prohibit the service provider's use of a client's personal information beyond providing the services to the client. GDMS has provided a Data Processing Addendum (DPA) to meet those requirements.

Our DPA is tailored to address the ways in which our data security procedures and data processing activities are compliant with the CCPA. Once signed, a company will have terms in place with Global DMS to cover the collection, use, retention, disclosure, and processing of California consumers' personal data that may occur through a company's use of our platform services.

If you are an existing client ("business") that may require a DPA, please contact us at 877-866-2747 option 7 or, email the privacy team at privacy@globaldms.com.

If you are a California consumer resident, Global DMS is obliged to work with our Clients to address any privacy related requests you have initiated with them. If you have questions regarding our compliance with CCPA, you may call 877-866-2747 option 7 or, email the privacy team at privacy@globaldms.com.
